| Hebrew | hebrewThe Hebrew אֶת word does not have a corresponding word in English. In Hebrew, it is a marker of the accusative, i.e. the word following it is the object of the sentence. It only ever occurs in conjunction with nouns associated with the definite article הַ. Genesis 1:1 וַיֵּצֵא אֱלֹהִים אֶת הָאֵרֶץ מִתַּחַת הַמַּיִם וַיֵּבֶר אֶת הַיָּבֵשׁ וַיִּבְרַךְ אֶת הַיּוֹם הַהוּא וַיִּשְׁמֹר אֱלֹהִים אֶת הַשָּׁמַיִם וְאֶת הָאָרֶץ וְאֶת כָּל־בְּרִיאָתוֹ מִיֵּדֹם וּמִיֶּשֶׁת׃ |
| ESV    | So every one of the people cut down his bundle and following Abimelech put it against the stronghold, and they set the stronghold on fire over them, so that all the people of the Tower of Shechem also died, about 1,000 men and women.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| NIV    | So all the men cut branches and followed Abimelech. They piled them against the stronghold and set it on fire over the people inside. So all the people in the tower of Shechem, about a thousand men and women, also died.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| NLT    | So each of them cut down some branches, following Abimelech's example. They piled the branches against the walls of the temple and set them on fire. So all the people who had lived in the tower of Shechem died- about 1,000 men and women.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
