

Luke 10:30

|       |                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|-------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|       | ὕπολαβὼν ὁ                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|       | greek                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|       | The definite article Ἰησοῦς εἶπεν· ἄνθρωπός τις κατέβαινεν ἀπὸ Ἱερουσαλὴμ εἰς Ἱερειχώ, καὶ                                                                                                     |
|       | greek                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|       | Meaning                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|       | * And * Also * Both * Even * Too * So                                                                                                                                                          |
|       | Is a conjunction that connects single words or terms or sentences. IT is most frequently translated as “and” λησταῖς περιέπεσεν, οἱ καὶ                                                        |
|       | greek                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Greek | Meaning                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|       | * And * Also * Both * Even * Too * So                                                                                                                                                          |
|       | Is a conjunction that connects single words or terms or sentences. IT is most frequently translated as “and” ἐκδύσαντες αὐτὸν αὐτός                                                            |
|       | greek                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|       | Meaning                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|       | * He, she, it * Himself, herself, itself * Same                                                                                                                                                |
|       | Personal pronoun (reflexive). Occurs more than 5,000 times in the New Testament.                                                                                                               |
|       | Core uses Function English Equivalent Typical Translation Example (Greek) Example (English) καὶ                                                                                                |
|       | greek                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|       | Meaning                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|       | * And * Also * Both * Even * Too * So                                                                                                                                                          |
|       | Is a conjunction that connects single words or terms or sentences. IT is most frequently translated as “and” πληγὰς ἐπιθέντες ἀπῆλθον, ἀφέντες ἡμιθανῆ.                                        |
| ESV   | Jesus replied, “A man was going down from Jerusalem to Jericho, and he fell among robbers, who stripped him and beat him and departed, leaving him half dead.                                  |
| NIV   | In reply Jesus said: “A man was going down from Jerusalem to Jericho, when he fell into the hands of robbers. They stripped him of his clothes, beat him and went away, leaving him half dead. |

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|-----|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| NLT | Jesus replied with a story: "A Jewish man was traveling on a trip from Jerusalem to Jericho, and he was attacked by bandits. They stripped him of his clothes, beat him up, and left him half dead beside the road. |
| KJV | And Jesus answering said, A certain man went down from Jerusalem to Jericho, and fell among thieves, which stripped him of his raiment, and wounded him, and departed, leaving him half dead.                       |

Luke 10:29 ← Luke 10:30 → Luke 10:31

Return to: Home Page → Christianity → Bible → New Testament → Luke → Luke 10

From:

<https://groveserver.com/bible/> - BibleWiki

Permanent link:

https://groveserver.com/bible/doku.php?id=luke\_10:30

Last update: 2025/10/23 00:28

