

Luke 16:6

|       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|-------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|       | ὁplugin-autotooltip__default plugin-autotooltip_bigὁ greek The definite article δὲplugin-autotooltip__default plugin-autotooltip_bigδέ greek δέ is a conjunction that can mean “but” or “and” or “also” or “moreover”. It is a word that is used very frequently in the New Testament, and is often unexpressed and not translated in English. εἶπεν· ἑκατὸν βάτους ἐλαίου. ὁplugin-autotooltip__default plugin-autotooltip_bigὁ greek The definite article δὲplugin-autotooltip__default plugin-autotooltip_bigδέ greek δέ is a conjunction that can mean “but” or “and” or “also” or “moreover”. It is a word that is used very frequently in the New Testament, and is often unexpressed and not translated in English. εἶπεν αὐτῷ·plugin-autotooltip__default plugin-autotooltip_bigαὐτός |
| Greek | greek Meaning * He, she, it * Himself, herself, itself * Same Personal pronoun (reflexive). Occurs more than 5,000 times in the New Testament. Core uses Function English Equivalent Typical Translation Example (Greek) Example (English) δέξαι σου τὰplugin-autotooltip__default plugin-autotooltip_bigὁ greek The definite article γράμματα καὶplugin-autotooltip__default plugin-autotooltip_bigκαί greek Meaning * And * Also * Both * Even * Too * So Is a conjunction that connects single words or terms or sentences. IT is most frequently translated as “and” καθίσας ταχέως γράψον πεντήκοντα.                                                                                                                                                               |
| ESV   | He said, 'A hundred measures of oil.' He said to him, 'Take your bill, and sit down quickly and write fifty.'                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| NIV   | “‘Eight hundred gallons of olive oil,’ he replied. “The manager told him, ‘Take your bill, sit down quickly, and make it four hundred.’                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| NLT   | The man replied, 'I owe him 800 gallons of olive oil.' So the manager told him, 'Take the bill and quickly change it to 400 gallons. '                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |

|     |                                                                                                                      |
|-----|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| KJV | And he said, An hundred measures of oil. And he said unto him, Take thy bill, and sit down quickly, and write fifty. |
|-----|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|

Luke 16:5 ← Luke 16:6 → Luke 16:7

Return to: Home Page → Christianity → Bible → New Testament → Luke → Luke 16

From:
<https://groveserver.com/bible/> - BibleWiki

Permanent link:
https://groveserver.com/bible/doku.php?id=luke\_16:6

Last update: 2025/10/23 00:28

