Greek

is the first person singular verb for "to be" (ἐἶμι [the infinitive form] = "to be").

It is an irregular verb, and like Ecclesiastes, changes significantly between person and tense. For example ἐγώ is the word for am and ἦν is the word for was, e.g.

RSV	And swore by him who lives forever and ever, who created heaven and what is in it, the earth and what is in it, and the sea and what is in it, that there would be no more delay.
NIV	And he swore by him who lives for ever and ever, who created the heavens and all that is in them, the earth and all that is in it, and the sea and all that is in it, and said, "There will be no more delay!"
NLT	He swore an oath in the name of the one who lives forever and ever, who created the heavens and everything in them, the earth and everything in it, and the sea and everything in it. He said, "There will be no more delay."
KJV	And swore by him that liveth for ever and ever, who created heaven, and the things that therein are, and the earth, and the things that therein are, and the sea, and the things which are therein, that there should be time no longer:
